

Samantha Ansell, 3rd Grade, Grafton School

The character trait that I chose is responsibility. Responsibility means to me that you don't rely on other people to do things for you. You must do things on your own. If you are responsible enough, you can do more grown up things. That is what I think about responsibility.

I show responsibility at school by bringing back my agenda and homework everyday. Turning in my work and always having the right school supplies and using them correctly shows I am responsible. I won the character trait award "responsibility" in 1st grade. I am very proud of that! This is how I show responsibility at school.

I show responsibility at home by taking care of cds and other things in my room. I always try to make it home on time when I go to my friends' house. I also show responsibility by taking care of my brother Zachary when my mom runs errands. All people have responsibilities.

A parent might show responsibility by paying bills on time and doing correct work at their job. Being on time to work shows they are responsible. They drive safely and use correct sources of materials. Taking care of their kids and feeding their family are also ways a parent would show responsibility. Most of all, it is being responsible for your actions.

Responsibility is important in everyday life because you have to pay bills and feed yourself. You should always do your best at your work (or wherever you are)! Being responsible for your actions and not blaming it on other people is very important. Responsibility is a very important trait!
